God Bless Cambodia

Novelist and fringe veteran Randy Ross provides an unflinching look at how men feel about sex, love, marriage, and massage parlors.

Reviews of Ross's previous show "The Chronic Single's Handbook"

"Charming with a side of Creepy" The Georgia Straight (Vancouver fringe)

"A lot of fun to watch." Four Stars Winnipeg Free Press (Winnipeg fringe)

"Sharply funny"... "Some of life's tougher punch lines"... "A quality solo show"
FringeReview (Edinburgh fringe)

The Play: God Bless Cambodia is a one-man show by Randy Ross about a chronically-single guy who travels the world hoping to change his luck with love.

Remember Eat, Pray, Love? This is nothing like it. The story begins in Boston and goes astray in Greece, South Africa, and Asia. Along the way, audiences are exposed to the stories "Domination for Dummies" and "One Day at The Curious Finger Body Spa."

Adult situations, adult language, and more adult situations.

The Performer: Randy Ross is a Boston-area writer and story-teller. His comedic novel, God Bless Cambodia, was published in 2017 by The Permanent Press, a publisher of literary fiction. His short stories, erotica, and humor have appeared in The Drum, Black Heart Magazine, and ForTheGirls.com, a porn site for women. He has performed at fringe festivals in the U.S., Canada, and Edinburgh, Scotland.

In 2007, Ross took a four-month, solo trip around the world and learned to say in three languages: "Speak English?" "Got Pepto-Bismol?" and "Where is the evacuation helicopter?" His shows and novel were inspired by the trip.
